EXHIBIT A

1. The limited liability company may, from time to time, and in conformity with the provisions of the Rhode Island Limited Liability Company Act, distribute to its members, a portion of its assets, in cash or property.

2. No operating manager or officer shall have personal liability to the limited liability company or to its members for monetary damages for breach of such operating manager or officer's duty as a operating manager or officer provided that this provision shall not eliminate or limit the liability of such operating manager or officer: (i) for any breach of the operating manager or officer's duty of loyalty to the limited liability company or to its members; (ii) for acts or omissions not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law; (iii) under §7-16-32 of the Rhode Island Limited Liability Company Act; or (iv) for any transaction from which the operating manager or officer derived an improper personal benefit.

3. The ownership of an interest in the limited liability company is subject to transfer restrictions contained in the limited liability company's operating agreement, copies of which are on file at the registered office of the limited liability company. Such ownership interests in the limited liability company are transferable only upon compliance with said transfer restrictions.
