APPENDIX A

Any stockholder, including the heirs, assigns, executors or administrators of a deceased shareholder, desiring to sell or transfer such stock owned by him or them, shall first offer it to the remaining common shareholders, in the manner following:

He shall notify remaining shareholders of his desire to sell or transfer by notice in writing, which notice shall contain the price at which he is willing to sell or transfer and the name of one arbitrator. The remaining shareholders shall within thirty (30) days hereafter either accept the offer, or by notice to him in writing, name a second arbitrator, and these two shall name a third. It shall then be the duty of the arbitrators to ascertain the value of the stock, and if any arbitrator shall neglect or refuse to appear at any meeting appointed by the arbitrators, a majority may act in the absence of such arbitrator.

After the acceptance of the offer, or the report of the arbitrators as to the value of the stock, the remaining shareholders shall have thirty days within which to purchase the same at such valuation in proportion to the number of shares of which he is the owner. If any shareholder fails to purchase all the shares to which he is entitled, the remaining shareholders may purchase the non-purchased shares pro rata. If at the expiration of thirty days, the corporation shall not have exercised the right to so purchase, the owner of the stock shall be at liberty to dispose of the same in any manner he may see fit.

No shares of stock shall be sold or transferred on the books of the corporation until these provisions have been complied with, but the Board of Directors may in any particular instance waive the requirement.

Any action required or permitted to be taken at a meeting of the shareholders may be taken without a meeting if said action is taken pursuant to Section 7-1.1-30.3, Rhode Island General Laws, as amended and according to all directives therein contained.

The business of the corporation shall be managed by its shareholders.
