1. The first step in the process of the development of the new curriculum is the identification of the needs of the community. This is done through a series of interviews and focus group discussions with the community members. The second step is the identification of the resources available in the community. This is done through a series of interviews and focus group discussions with the community members. The third step is the identification of the gaps in the existing curriculum. This is done through a series of interviews and focus group discussions with the community members. The fourth step is the development of the new curriculum. This is done through a series of interviews and focus group discussions with the community members. The fifth step is the implementation of the new curriculum. This is done through a series of interviews and focus group discussions with the community members.

1. The first step in the process is to identify the problem. This involves gathering information about the situation and understanding the needs of the stakeholders involved.
